

CRM IMPACT REPORT 2024

MISSION: Carnivore Research Malawi (CRM) aims to conserve carnivores in Malawi through applied research, conservation and education

Hyaena behaviour experiments in urban areas COMPLETED!

12 Experiment nights performed to finalize the last location in urban environments

These are part of the Human Wildlife Conflict project which help to identify drivers of conflict between humans and communities

Camera Trap Nights Completed

2,893

In 4 study areas: Lilongwe, Bunda Mountain, Kuti Wildlife Reserve and Kasungu National Park

LEAFLETS DISTRIBUTED

448

To engage with local communities, increase understanding of carnivores, dispel myths and provide conflict solutions

Hyaena clans saved from persecution

Through research, education and capacity building

4

19

New hyaenas identified

Habituation sessions completed

14

Recording visual behaviour data making hyaenas familiar with research vehicles for future sample collection

13

805

7

Community Outreach visits

People educated in communities

Training workshops

152 Indirect observations of carnivores recorded

7 Different species

9 Human-hyaena conflict visits completed

THANK YOU

We couldn't achieve all without your support. For more information on CRM's work in Malawi visit

 <https://www.carnivoreresearchmalawi.org/>

CONTACT US

Email: info@conservationresearchafrica.org

Website: www.conservationresearchafrica.org

CRM is a project from

Conservation Research Africa, UK registered charity number: 1170640

